ANIREVIEWS

Good day! I made a project that has a name "AniReviews". The purpose of the project is to make a website for my anime reviews. Here is a short manual that you can use to serf through my website!

P.S. My website is on English, but you can find a lot of russian words in it, because I used to write my reviews in russian and the texts that on the site are actually my reviews!
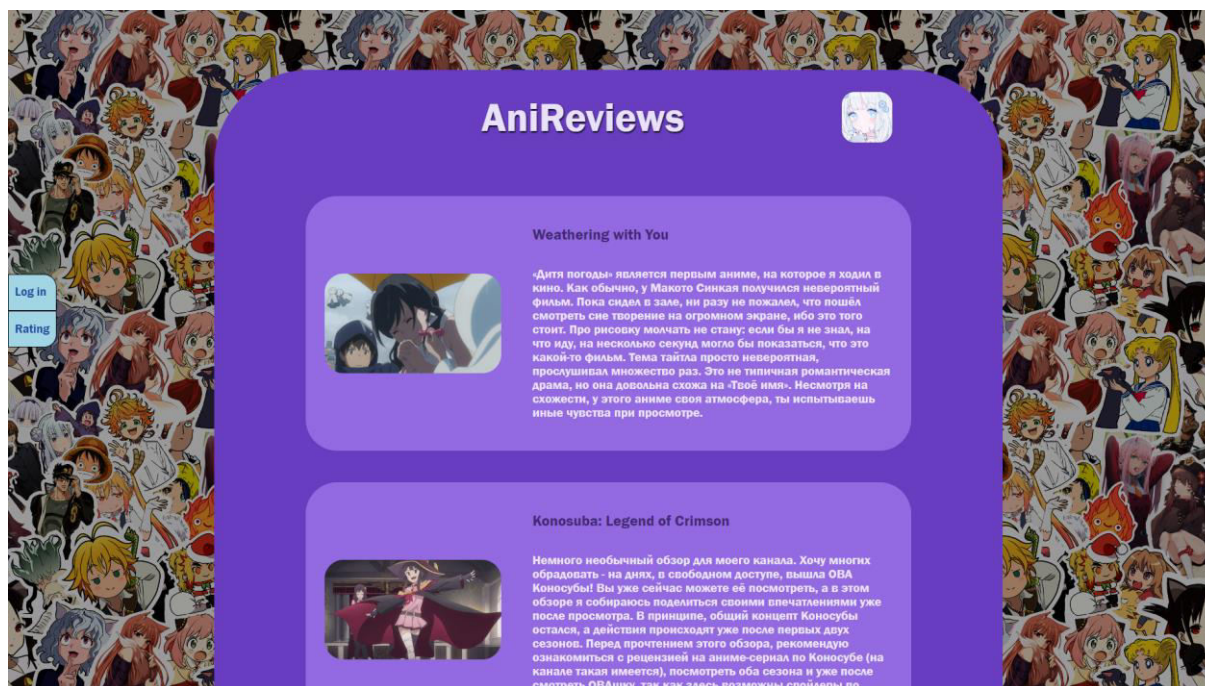

HOME PAGE

The page is made for the navigation and is an initial page for the whole website. It looks like this:
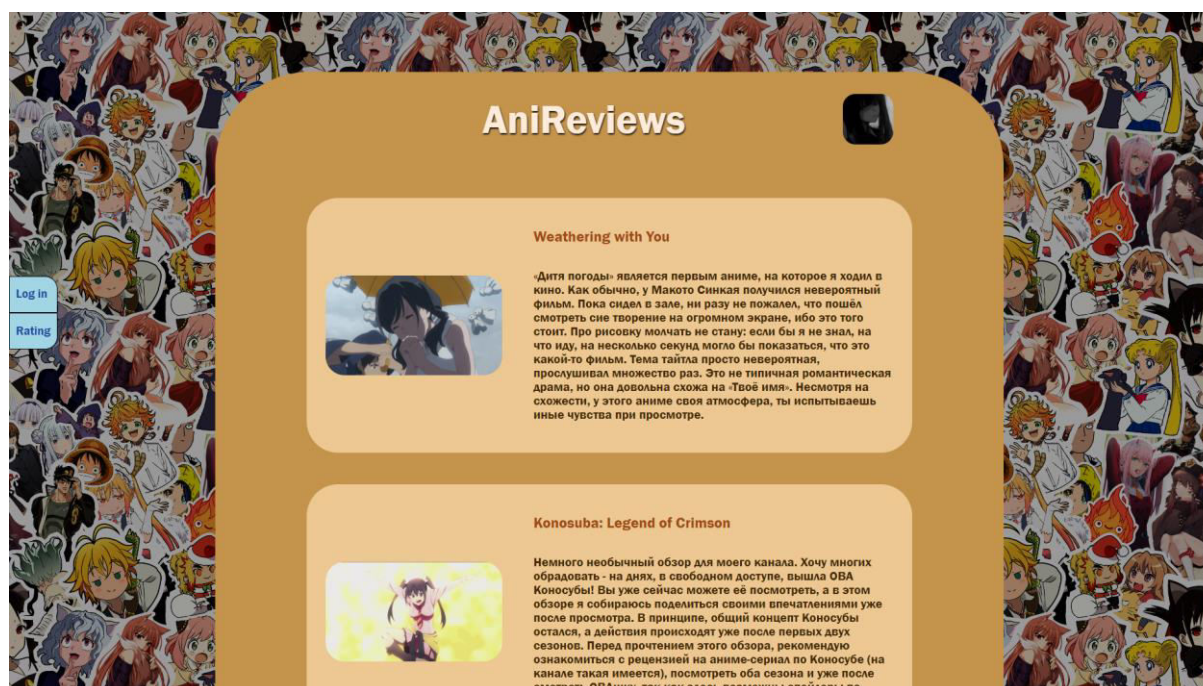

Here you can click a lot of buttons and links. For example, you can change a theme to the dark theme (or, like I have called it, "purple theme") clicking on the right button:

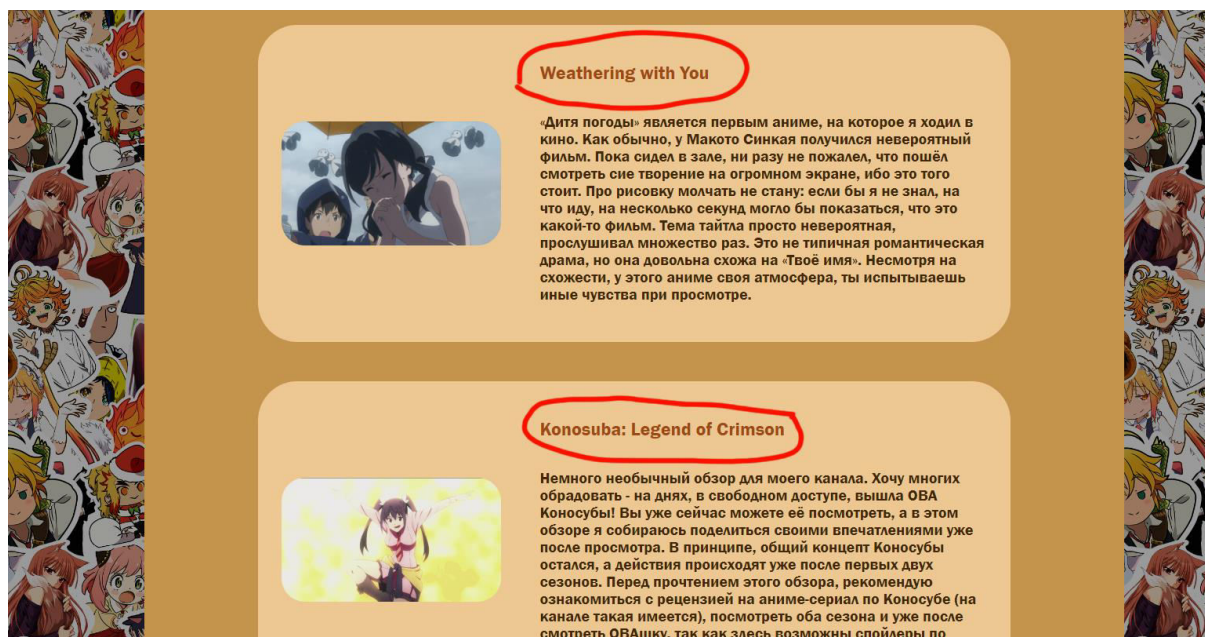

1. Button of changing the theme

2. Dark (purple) theme

Other things you can click are any review links.

By clicking on the titles, you can access the review pages, but about them later.

3.Titles

At the bottom of the page, you can observe some interesting things:

Page number.

On the one page there are only 4 recommended reviews, on the other page 4 more, if they are exist. Now I have only 10 reviews, so on the last, 3rd page, there will be only 2 reviews.

Contact information.

Here you can contact the author (me) by one of the available ways: Telegram, Email or Discord. Simple tap of the link of the preffered method will redirect the user to the program that he had chosen.

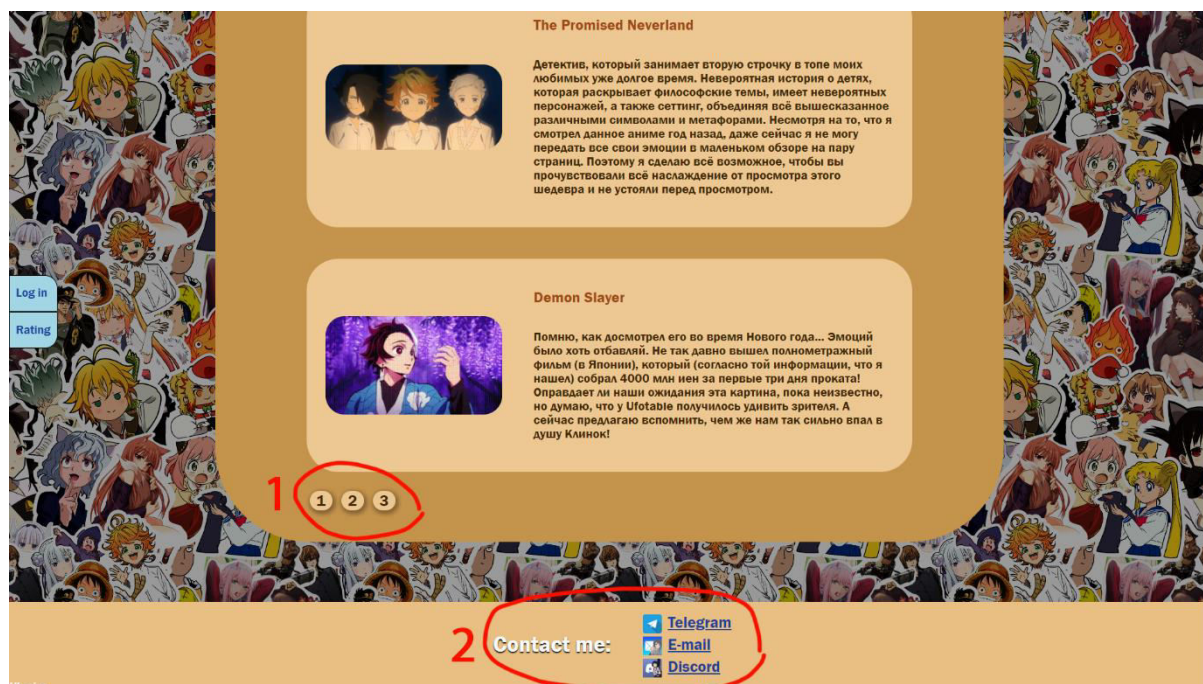

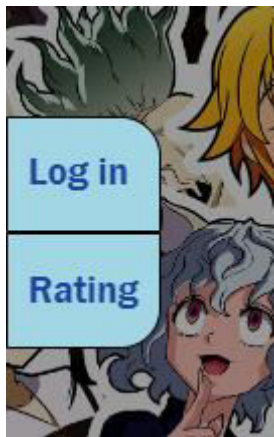

4. (1. Page number. 2. Contact information)
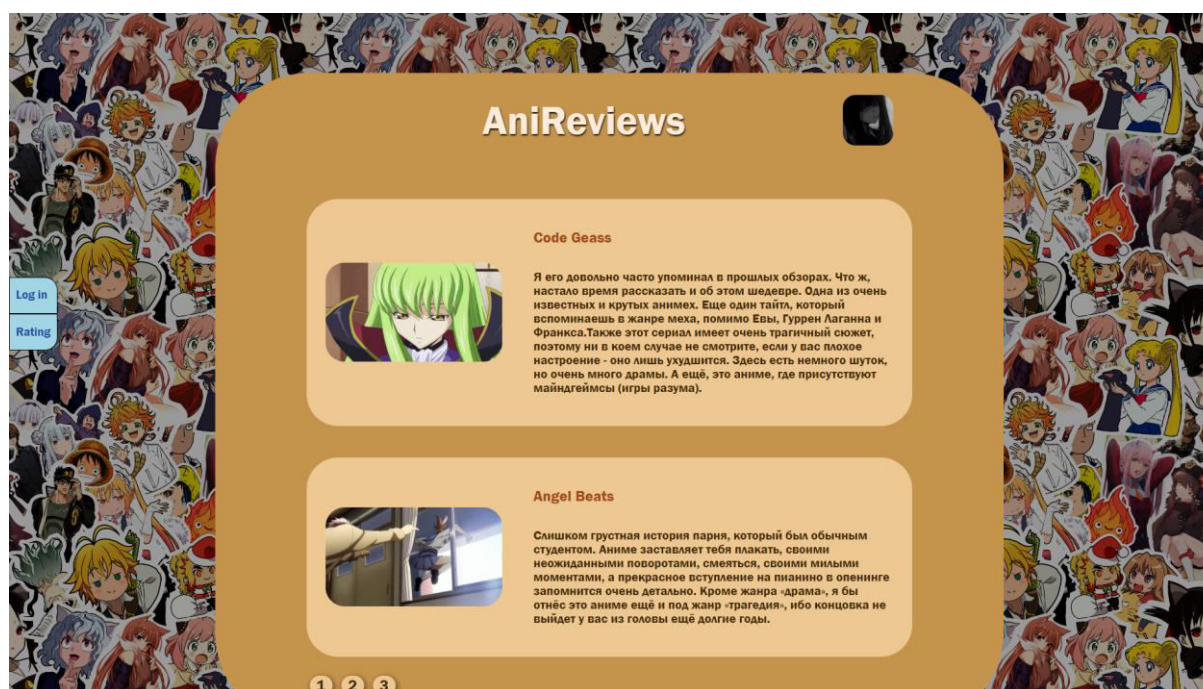

5. The third page of the Home page

The last thing that you can look at is navigation menu, by using which you can get access to other pages of my website.

If you will click on the "Log in" link, it will redirect you to the Login page, where you can log into my website or register to it, to have a possibility to leave a comment, and if you will click "Rating", it will redirect you to Rating page, where you will find all reviews by their rating.
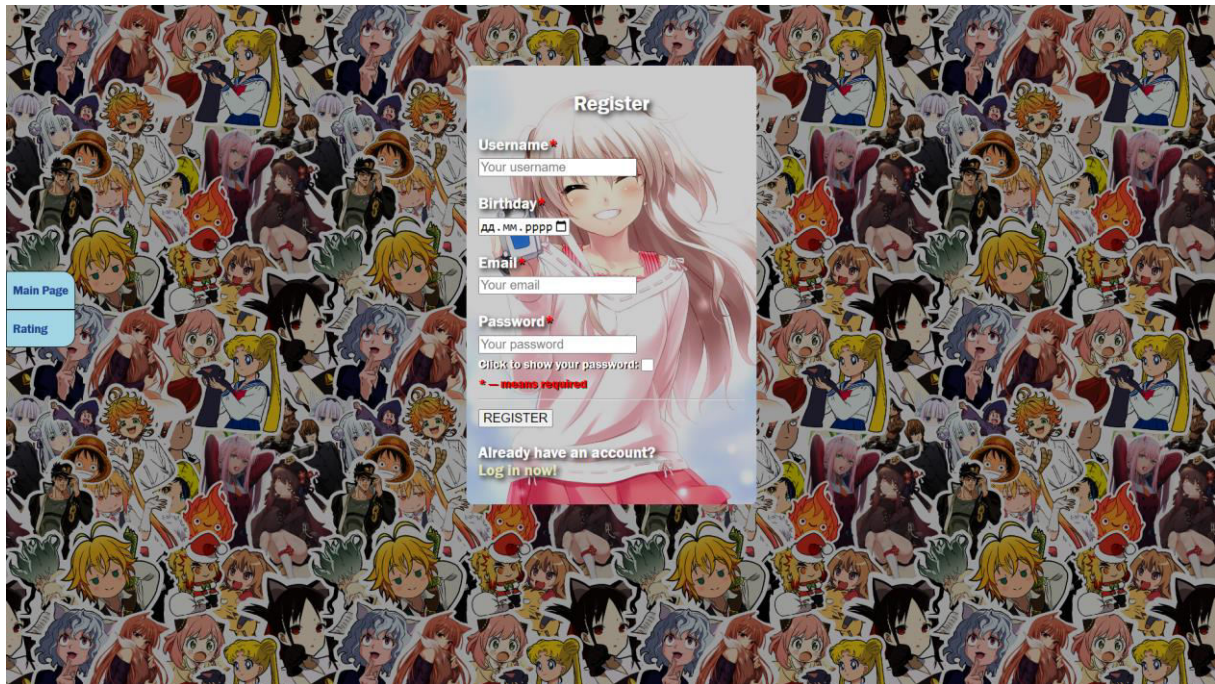

LOGIN AND REGISTRATION
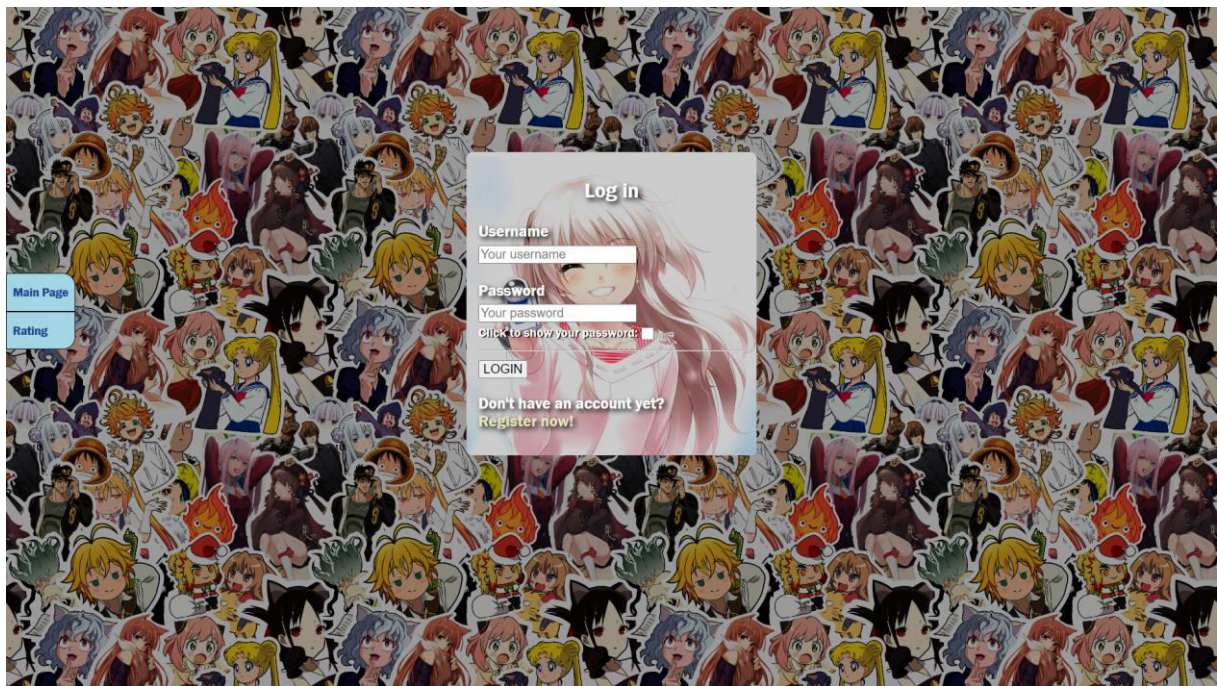

6. Login page

The Login page gives you an opportunity to log into my website and use it all available features for the logged users (now it is only opportunity to leave a comment under the reviews).

Firstly, to log into the website, you must have a registered account on it. I will come back to the login page after I tell everything about the registration page.

So, to have access to the registration page, you need to click on the bottom link "Register now":
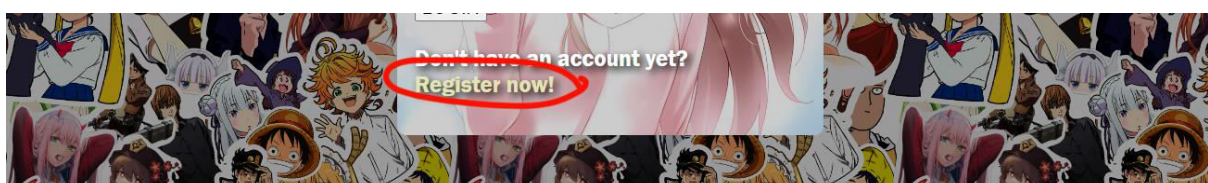

And you will be redirected to the registration page:

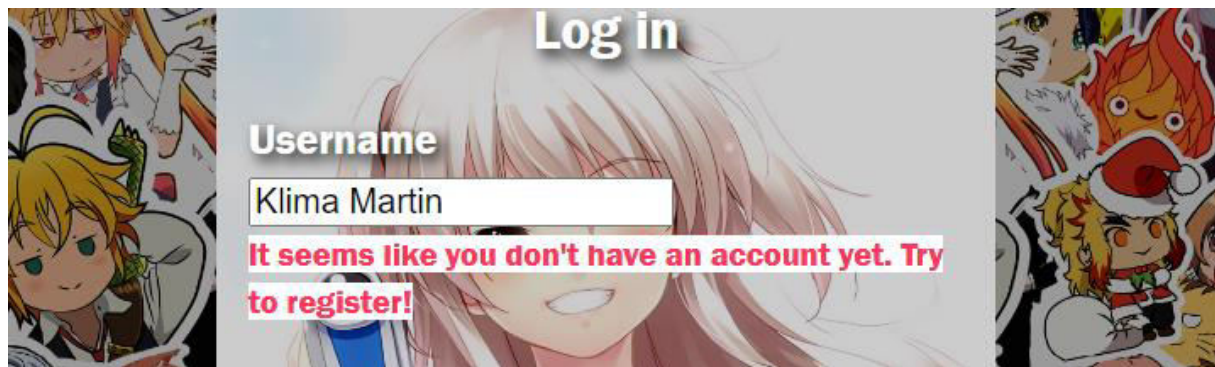

7. Registration page

There is the registration page, where you can register to my website. To do it, simply input the required fields (actually, there are only required fields) that indicated by red asterisk:

- Username – your nickname on the website. Your comments will be leaved by this name. There can be only 1 unique name on the website. It must contain at least 8 characters.
- Birthday – you date of birth. Nothing special.
- Email – your email account. There can be only 1 unique email on the website.
- Password – your password to get access to the website in future. It must contain only at least one number, one uppercase and one lowercase letter, and at least 8 characters.
  At the bottom of the form you have a checkbox that will show you your password if you click on it.

If all inputs were valid and there are no other users with the same username/email, you will be redirected to the login page and will have your personal account on the website and in the database.

Going back to the login page, where you can input the username and password that you had input before in the registration form and you will log into the website.

If you will input something wrong, you will get an error:

8. Example of the error

On the login and registration pages you can move to the main page or to the rating page, using the navigation bar on the left part of the page.

RATING

9. Rating page

On the page you can see a top of my reviews. The top was made by actual rating of my reviews of all the time and here you can observe all the reviews that I actually have on my website.

You can change the theme here too, using the same icon.

There are indicated the characteristics of the anime:

- Poster of the anime.
- Name of the anime.
- My overall grade of the anime.
- Genres of the anime;
- Some additional information about anime type.

Here you can use the same navigation to redirect to the login page or the main page.

Also, rating page has the same footer as in the main page.

You can also click on the anime title or on the poster to redirect to the main thing of the website – reviews!

On the review page you can observe many things, but the whole content is about the anime, and it is review.

The main parts of the review:

- Anime title.
- Grades about the anime plot, characters etc.
- Description of the anime characteristics.
- Image with characters, gif that demonstrates an animation level of the anime.

You can open the full size of the images and the gifs just by clicking on them:
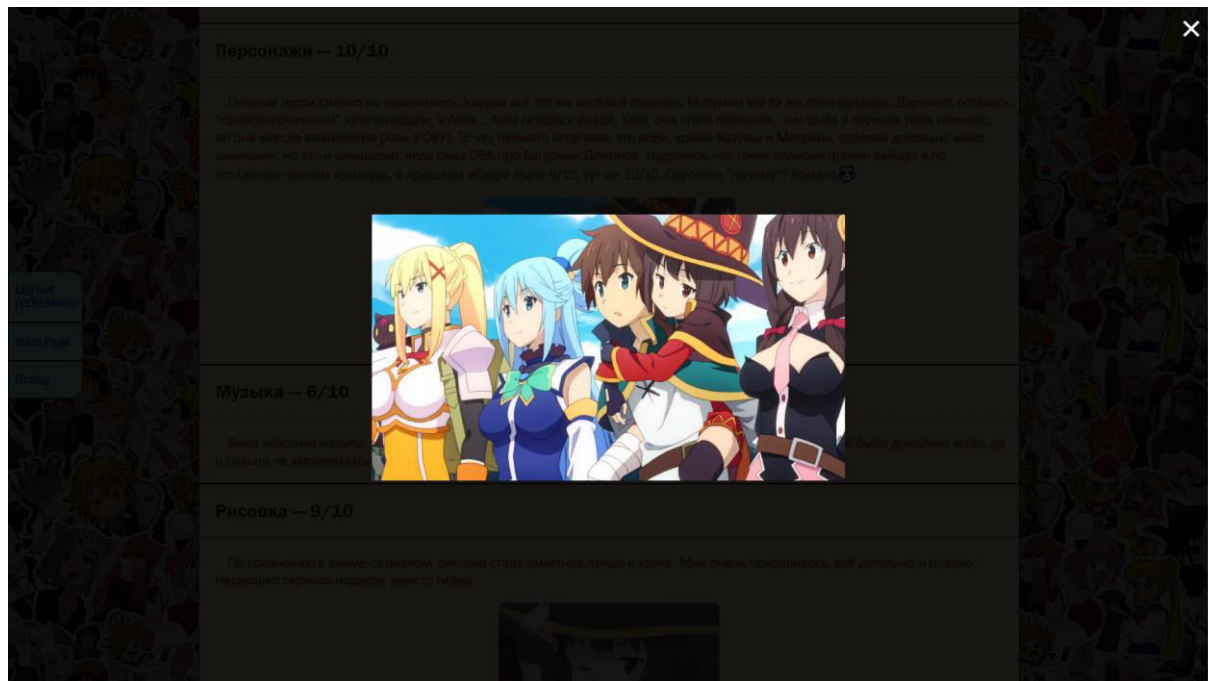

You can close the media using the cross on the right top side:
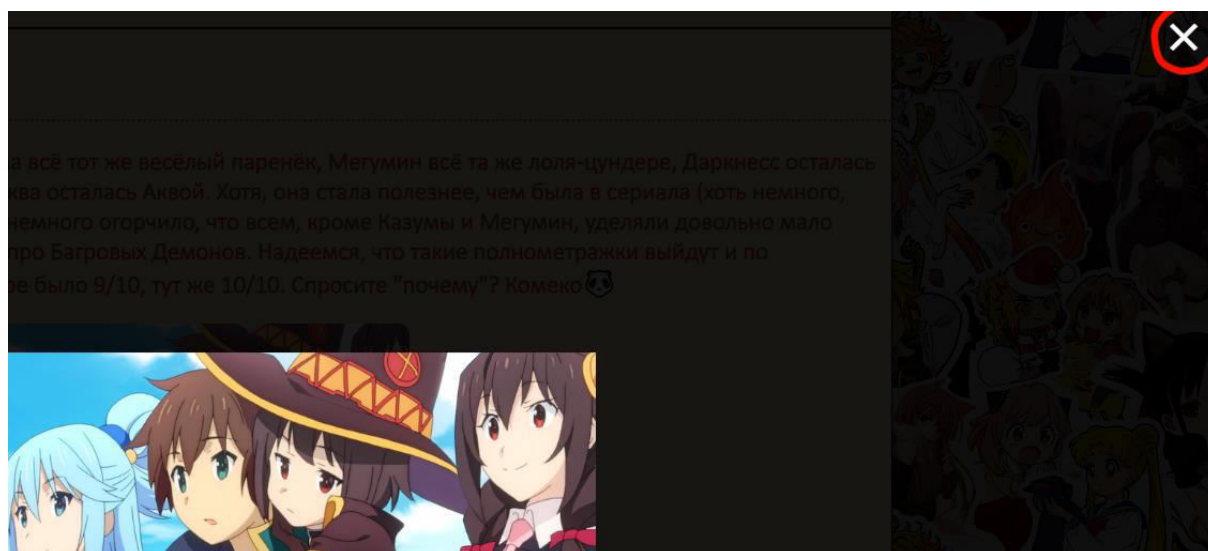

On the page there is also a block for the user comment and all comments about the review. It is at the bottom of the whole review content. You cannot leave a comment if you are not logged in. After you log into the website, you will see a textarea to input the comment:

Comment has limits – you cannot send a blank comment form and a comment with more than 5000 characters. After sending a valid comment, you can delete the comment if you want to.

The reviews pages have footer too.

If you are a moderator on the AniReviews (you are Ivan Yeremenko, admin of the website or a teacher), you can delete not only your own comments, but also every one else.

To get a moderator of the role – contact Ivan Yeremenko (me)!
